POWER TARIFF SAVES £100 ON ENERGY BILLS

A NEW deal that could save people more than £100 a year on their energy bills has been approved by Southend Council.

The authority has joined forces with OVO Energy Ltd to create a bespoke tariff for residents of the Borough.

People using pre payment meters are set to benefit as the deal will compete against the current tariffs put in place by energy companies.

Councillor for enterprise, tourism and economic development, Graham Longley, said energy prices have continued to rise faster than the average pay in the past few years.

Mr Longley said: "For some of the poorest families in our Borough, this means sometimes having to choose between heating and eating.

"We're determined to do what we can to help alleviate the financial pressures on local businesses and residents and I welcome these innovative proposals, which are just one of several exciting energy-based projects we will be looking to progress this year.

"The new Southend energy company would benefit all members of the local community by offering some of the cheapest tariffs on the market and possibly providing extra support for those suffering fuel poverty from income we receive through energy generation.

"The council could also benefit by opening up new sources of income at a time of ever reducing central government funding, thereby protecting essential services.

"We settled upon OVO because of their solid record in providing some of the lowest and combined with high levels of customer service.

"Essentially, I believe they are big enough to make a difference but small enough to care and I personally hope to become the first resident to sign up."

The council and OVO will be in negotiations over the coming weeks to formulate an official agreement.

Grooming investigation under scrutiny

TWO POLICE forces are being scrutinised over their investigations of Lewis Daynes – an alleged sex offender who murdered a schoolboy in Grays.

The Independent Police Complaints Commission (IPCC) has opened files on Essex and Surrey police forces following complaints by Breck Bednar's family.

The watchdog is probing Surrey Police's response to a report by Breck's mother Lorin LaFave about Lewis Daynes grooming her son.

She filed the report two months before his murder.

A second investigation has been launched into Essex Police's handling of a rape allegation against Lewis Daynes in 2011.

DI Anne Cameron, lead investigator in the murder case, revealed at a media briefing last week that Ms LaFave reported Daynes to Surrey Police on December 17, exactly two months before he murdered her son.

* An IPCC investigation is ongoing into Martin Goldberg, maths teacher at Thorpe Hall School. Goldberg killed himself after being questioned over the filming of boys. He was subject to an Essex Police investigation while offending.

Memorial candle for victims of Holocaust

THE SPECIALLY-CREATED ceremonial candle which is to be lit during Southend's Holocaust Memorial event has been unveiled.

The town was chosen as one of 70 locations across the country to play host to the candle designed by artist Sir Anish Kapoor.

The national initiative marks the 70th anniversary to the day of the liberation of Auschwitz Birkenau, on January 27, 1945.

Holocaust survivor Leslie Kleinman will light the candle at the start of the service at 5.30pm in the Civic Centre, Victoria Avenue.

Mr Kleinman will give an address during the commemoration event which will include music drama and poetry.

The service was chosen from hundreds of applications sent to the Holocaust Memorial Day Trust, the charity responsible for marking Holocaust Memorial Day in the UK.

On Tuesday, January 27, there will be tree-planting ceremony at noon in Cockethurst Park, Eastwood.

Councillor for enterprise, tourism and economic development, Graham Longley, said the council was delighted to have been selected to be part of the nationwide commemoration.

He said: "It is vital that we remember and reflect upon the horrors of the past, and honour those who survived."

Sir Anish's candles will also be lit at a national commemorative events in London and at Auschwitz as part of international commemorations.

He is best known for his sculpture work, including the ArcelorMittal Orbit, an observation tower built in Stratford's Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park for London 2012, and Chicago's mirrored, legume-shaped Cloud Gate, which is more commonly known as the Bean.

SURVIVOR: Leslie Kleinman, of Westcliff-on-Sea, with a photo of his family who perished in a concentration camp, will light the commemorative candle, left, and speak on Holocaust Memorial Day

● SOUTHEND'S £12.7million Better Care Fund (BCF) plan has been fully approved by NHS England.

Southend Council and NHS Southend Clinical Commissioning Group submitted their bid last September.

It detailed how the investment would improve outcomes and care for residents but save more than £2m through a number of initiatives.

It is also hoped that the BCF will help to reduce hospital admissions by 3.5 per cent and reduce residential admissions by 11.5 per cent.

● THE SOUTHEND Lions Club has helped to deliver some joy to the children's ward of Southend Hospital with nine DVD players and 18 films.

The bundle of film blockbusters include popular titles such as Frozen and Ice Age Four and will provide hours of entertainment and escapism for the poorly young patients.

● FOOTPATHS on cliffs in Leigh have been closed to the public because ground movement has made them unsuitable to use.

Since flooding in August 2013 the grounds of the cliffs were saturated with water.

The level of the ground movement on Leigh Cliffs, below Cliff Parade, has become evident causing the paths to become cracked and uneven.

To ensure the safety of the public, some of the footpaths have now been closed and fences and signs put up.

● SOUTHEND Hospital cancelled all its non-emergency operations last week and remained on black alert.

The executive team and lead clinicians decided on Tuesday, January 6, to put the measure in place in order to manage making beds available to admit unwell patients from the emergency department.

Emergency and cancer-related operations will still carry on.

Jon Findlay, chief operating officer at Southend Hospital, apologised for postponing some patients' operations.

Teen murderer is jailed for life

By Charles Thomson

southend@yellowad.co.uk

SPECIAL REPORT FROM THE COURTROOM

A MAN from Grays has been jailed for life for the "sadistic and sexually motivated" murder of a 14-year-old boy.

Lewis Daynes, 19, was sentenced at Chelmsford Crown Court on Monday after pleading guilty to killing Breck Bednar, who he met in an online gaming forum.

Mrs Justice Cox gave Daynes a minimum term of 25 years.

Breck's mother burst into tears as the sentence was handed down.

Daynes murdered the boy at his flat in Rosebery Road, Grays, on February 17, 2014.

He lured Breck, from Caterham, Surrey, there by promising him a job at a fictitious computer company, telling him he was in line for a £55million payout.

Daynes initially denied murder but pleaded guilty on November 25, the first day of his trial.

Prosecutor Richard Whittam QC said evidence showed Daynes bound Breck with duct tape, cut his clothes off and sexually assaulted him.

He then executed the defenceless boy by standing behind him and slashing his throat.

Pathologist Dr Olaf Biedrzycki said on Monday that the fatal wound was caused by three or four separate knife movements.

Daynes then sent pictures of Breck's body to two mutual contacts, including a 15-year-old boy.

After sending them, Daynes showered, changed clothes and destroyed computer equipment by placing it in a sink full of water.

Almost an hour later he called police and claimed he had killed Breck in self-defence.

The court heard Daynes ordered duct tape, condoms, lubricant and a syringe weeks before the murder.

Forensic scientist Dr Neil Simpson testified on Monday that evidence showed Breck spilled a large amount of blood "within minutes" of sexual activity taking place.

The condoms and lubricant were found in a closed drawer in the bedroom where Breck was murdered, but had "airborne blood" on them, meaning they were not in the drawer during the murder.

A used syringe was found in the property on the day of the murder, but investigators could find no relevant toxicology results when they tested it.

Tests found Breck's wrists had been restrained with duct tape twice and that on one occasion he had been bleeding before the tape was applied.

Mr Whittam claimed all of this evidence proved a "sadistic or sexual motivation" and the purchases proved premeditation.

Defence barrister Simon Mayo QC claimed the purchases only proved premeditation of lesser crimes.

He argued Daynes's failure to plot an escape or a way to dispose of Breck's body proved the murder was not premeditated.

Judge Mrs Justice Cox agreed, telling Daynes: "The evidence does not support a finding that the murder itself was premeditated and pre-planned. It does, however, support the prosecution submission that you groomed this young boy over a lengthy period of time before you lured him to your home and then engaged in sexual activity and murdered him."

Telling Daynes he would spend at least 25 years behind bars, she said: "I emphasise that [this] is the minimum amount of time that you will spend in prison, from the date of sentence, before the Parole Board can even consider whether you might be released. If it remains necessary for the protection of the public, you will continue to be detained in custody after that date. You will in any event remain on licence for the rest of your life."

CAMPAIGN: Breck's mother Lorin LaFave, whose health has been affected by her grief, launched a foundation to save children from online predators

Police investigations come under scrutiny

Ms LaFave filed a report to police after Daynes contacted her to complain about her parenting.

Shortly afterwards, Breck sent her an email telling her he would leave home unless she changed her ways, using some of the same wording Daynes used in his conversation with her.

Ms LaFave believed Daynes was intentionally turning her son against her and causing him to act out of character.

In a statement yesterday, the IPCC said a staff member at the Surrey Police contact centre was interviewed and served with a misconduct notice.

It added that another staff member, who took Ms LaFave's call, resigned in August 2014.

An IPCC spokesman said: "We have obtained details of the call made by Breck's mother to Surrey Police about the communication between her son and Lewis Daynes. We need to understand how that information was acted on and whether more could have been done to safeguard Breck."

The IPCC is also probing Essex Police over its handling of a rape claim against Daynes in 2011.

At an Essex Police briefing last week, Ms LaFave told the media: "We were pleased to find out that both the Surrey and Essex IPCC investigations are moving forward and pleased that they are both being investigated independently."

"We have met the team and we feel confident that they will help us find the answers."

Breck's story to 'prevent future deaths'

BRECK Bednar's family have launched a foundation to prevent more children succumbing to online grooming.

On a website for the Breck Bednar Memorial Foundation, his relatives described the "dedicated student", who attended St Bede's School in Redhill, as "a kind, well-liked, intelligent, thoughtful, independent, resourceful, responsible boy with a good sense of humour and a thirst for knowledge".

The foundation has created wristbands bearing the slogan, Play Virtual/Live Real.

In a witness impact statement read in court on Monday, Breck's mother Lorin LaFave said: "I feel so weakened from this horrible tragedy. I want Breck's story to save others from the pure evil in this world."

At a media briefing last week, she explained more about the foundation.

She said: "Even though Breck was a very clever boy, he was too good to recognise the evil and lies and manipulation of someone behind a computer screen."

For more information, visit www.breckbednar.com.

Essex Police said anyone with concerns about keeping their children safe could call its helpline on 01245 282103.

The line is manned between 4.30pm and 8pm.

VICTIM: Breck Bednar

'Foreign gunmen'

BEFORE changing his plea to guilty, Daynes tried to blame his violent actions on two fictitious gunmen.

The killer, described by lead officer DI Anne Cameron as a "Walter Mitty", made the claim in prison.

But prosecutor Richard Whittam QC claimed the made-up story offered new insight into Daynes's brutal crime.

In initial police interviews Daynes claimed sexual activity between he and Breck Bednar was consensual.

But while still protesting his innocence, he penned a letter to a guard, claiming that if he was acquitted he would spend the rest of his life searching for two Middle Eastern gunmen who had broken into his flat and murdered Breck in front of him.

He claimed the men, wearing ski masks, forced him to carry out a sex act on Breck and then executed the boy in front of him.

However, he pleaded guilty to the murder at a subsequent hearing on November 25.

Mr Whittam told Mrs Justice Cox that although the story was fictitious, it suggested Daynes's had accepted at the time that sexual activity between he and Breck was not consensual.

DETAILS: Evidence showed Breck Bednar's shirt had been cut from his body after he was tied up with duct tape, the court heard

Murderer faced child sex charges

LEWIS Daynes originally faced four additional charges of sexually assaulting a teenage boy and a fifth involving indecent images.

However, after he pleaded guilty to murdering Breck Bednar, which carried an immediate life sentence, prosecutors said there was no longer "support" for pursuing the additional counts.

Prosecutor Richard Whittam QC said Daynes had faced four charges over sexual assaults on a teenage boy.

However, he said that after the murder plea was entered, the alleged victim declined to pursue the case.

Daynes always denied all of the charges.

READING: Partners from Waitrose Leigh with students from Seevic College

Waitrose staff help promote literacy

STAFF from a Leigh supermarket are enjoying a reading partnership with college students.

Employees from Waitrose got the books out with foundation and level 1 students at Benfleet's Seevic College to listen to their read.

Sam Coombes, college head of student services, said: "Our reading partnership was inspired by similar programmes in Basildon where primary schools work with businesses to develop children's literacy. We wanted to take this idea forward with the young people at our college, and Waitrose has given us some fantastic support."

"The partnership offers students a non-formal learning environment, where they get the chance to read with people other than their teachers or parents. The partners are not only helping our students develop vital literacy skills, but providing them with an invaluable insight into the world of work as well."

The Waitrose reading partners have been going to the college once a week since the programme was launched in September and continue to volunteer in 2015.

The programme was initially scheduled to run until December, but was so successful that Seevic College and Waitrose both wanted to keep it going.

The store's corporate responsibility group organises staff members' participation, and Filipe Mineiro, who co-ordinates the scheme, is a volunteer. He said: "We've had no shortage of people willing to get involved, and staff are really excited about continuing the project in 2015."

"We've had a really great response from our staff, and more volunteers have already signed up. They're just waiting for their DBS checks to be completed, and are eager to join in with the reading sessions as soon as they can."

Seevic is keen to continue building such profitable relationships within the community, and would like to hear from any parties wishing to participate in similar projects in the future.

You can call 01268 756111, or email info@seevic-college.ac.uk to find out more.

EXCLUSIVE

By Charles Thomson

southend@yellowad.co.uk

ESSEX County Council has refused to answer further questions about alleged sexual abuse on its premises.

The Yellow Advertiser reported last week that campaigners had accused the authority of a "cover-up", after it refused to answer questions about payouts for historic abuse allegations.

The payouts for "alleged abuse" – one of which was £70,000 for alleged abuse in 1993 – were included in a list of 600 compensation claims paid out in 2014, made public in December.

The data listed the date of the alleged abuse, the council department each claim was linked to, the payment date and the amount paid.

But the council – which is required by law to make all of its accounts public – has refused to provide some of the same details for previous years.

Officials have rejected a Freedom of Information request for the number of compensation claims paid out for alleged abuse, and the amount paid in each case, every year from 2009 to 2014.

They claimed the information about its spending of taxpayers' money was "personal data" and said providing the answers could identify alleged victims. The Taxpayers' Alliance criticised the "inconsistent" rulings by the council's information officers.

Campaign manager Andy Silvester said: "The council's inconsistent approach is bound to raise questions. The sooner they are open about what occurred and the lessons learnt, the sooner we can move on from this episode."

The alliance joined the National Association for People Abused in Childhood (NAPAC) last week in backing a YA campaign to uncover details of alleged historic abuse on council property.

Data released in December showed 10 payouts last year for "alleged abuse" in the 1970s and 1990s. Despite charging taxpayers almost £100,000 for the compensation payments, the council refused to tell the public anything about the cases.

The YA asked for basic details; such as the age and gender of each claimant at the time of the alleged abuse, the nature of the alleged abuse, whether police were called and whether anybody had been convicted.

The council press office refused to answer the questions and Freedom of Information workers rejected the YA's request on Christmas Eve, claiming the answers could identify victims.

Abuse survivor Peter Saunders, founder of NAPAC – which represents child abuse victims – sided with the YA, claiming the basic details requested could not identify victims.

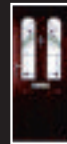

He said the use of the phrase "alleged" in the descriptions suggested nobody had been convicted, or else the abuse would be a matter of legal fact.

He said: "That might be why the council won't give you the details about whether anyone was convicted. If that's the case, the abusers could still be out there. In my mind, the way the council is responding is tantamount to a cover-up."

Speaking about the latest refusal of information, Mr Saunders said: "We are talking about public money here so people have a right to know. As taxpayers, as ratepayers, people have a right to know what they are paying for. That is not the same as asking for details which would identify victims who have been rightly compensated for a terrible ordeal, which you are not doing."

"The behaviour of Essex County Council and other councils explains how this crime perpetuates itself. We have to be open and transparent. If we don't do that, kids in the future have no chance."

LOGO: SEEVIC students with their ambulance service visuals

Students create ambulance logo

COLLEGE students have come up with new look for an ambulance service.

Thames Ambulance group turned to visual art students at Seevic College, Benfleet, for help when it decided to revamp the logos on its vehicles, letterheads and uniforms.

The Canvey-based company was looking for new designs to emphasise its commitment to providing high-quality, patient-centred services and at the same time, move away from the existing and traditional emblems to something more contemporary that would resonate with service users.

The students researched different types of logos used by ambulance services from around the world, as well as the company's existing design, as they created their pitches.

The final designs were judged by group CEO Margaret Serna, and executive assistant Lesley Rayner. It was so hard to choose an outright winner, the judges decided to widen the scope of the competition and include the three top designs in the service's "corporate identity".

Luke Griffiths's design will be used on vehicles, letterheads and digital media. Georgia Warren's will be displayed on the uniforms of non-emergency staff and Luke Bailey's on high dependency staff uniforms.

Anyone wishing to find out more about studying at Seevic is invited to attend the college's next Open Evening, on Tuesday, February 3, from 5.30-8pm.

Why is PM Cameron so TV-shy?

DAVID Cameron chickening out of the TV election debates because they "unfairly exclude the Greens" is a transparent act of political cowardice.

Voters will see through this smokescreen because he has no love for the Greens and famously dismissed people's concerns for environmental issues as "green crap".

TV debates are part of the political landscape.

At the last general election millions watched the main party leaders being questioned by the voters.

Last year, Ukip's Nigel Farage and Lib Dem Nick Clegg debated EU membership, while Labour's Alistair Darling and the SNP's Alex Salmond crossed swords over Scottish independence.

With an election imminent, the voters have a right to question the party leaders again.

The Tories are the only major party (as defined by Ofcom) not to agree to the TV debates. Why?

UKIP and the Lib Dems want to be represented at all the debates but have signed up for those they've been offered.

Labour has a leader with unimpressive poll ratings who fails the ultimate political test – being unable to eat a bacon sandwich.

Despite that, Labour will take part in all the debates.

It will gamble with its poll leads by putting Miliband into your front room for 4.5 hours of prime time TV.

Don't worry, you will be able to hide behind the settee.

After the election the prime minister will be Cameron or Miliband.

The TV debates will be a great opportunity for Cameron to demonstrate how prime ministerial he is.

His approval ratings are the best of the party leaders.

He claims to have fixed the economy and is supposedly facing the worst opposition leader since dinosaurs walked the earth.

Cameron could win the election without even kissing a single baby.

Yet he refuses to take part because the Greens won't be represented, and says he "would be happy to see no debates at all". What is he so frightened of?

Knighthood that makes me giggle

IT is said that we humans are the only animals with the ability to laugh and in these dark January days of terrorism, pestilence and assorted miseries, it's not very often one gets much cause.

Dogs wag their tails and cats may purr but a full-on belly laugh is a rarity to be enjoyed.

However, I read recently in your columns of an event that brought from me such an explosion of laughter that, even now I can barely suppress a giggle when I think of David Amess's knighthood.

Snapshots of days gone by

DISPLAY: Henry Clubb with his son on a motorbike and right, the Old Lady of Canvey

TWO men spent a great deal of time capturing Canvey Island on film in the 1920s and 1930s, leaving an intriguing record of life in those days, which islanders now have a chance to enjoy.

The work of the photographers – Henry Clubb and Horace Read – will form the main part of a Canvey Community Archive slideshow, later this month.

Henry, who died in 1932, lived in Benfleet but turned his lens to the island.

Many of his pictures were taken in the 1920s and are well known because they have been made into postcards.

However, the archive has been given an album of his work which contains many unseen pictures that are being added to the group's website.

Horace lived in Canvey and his work – mainly of the sea and marine sites – is set in the 1930s.

Janet Penn, who edits the archive web page and is organising the show, said: "We are very lucky to have so many photographs from these eras."

"We have a picture of Henry Clubb with his son taken by another son, but unfortunately we don't have a photo of Horace," she said.

Other photos in the show include a picture of Chapman Lighthouse, a favourite topic for Horace and the Old Lady of Canvey, a navigational beacon that was near Deadman's Point.

Henry's photo of an island fair is also on the bill.

Janet added that the slideshow will be the first time the community archive will use a projector bought with Heritage Lottery grant, part of a package of funding to help the community archive build more contact with the public.

The slideshow is at the War Memorial Hall, Canvey, from 2pm to 4pm on Wednesday January 28, there will be a £3 charge.

Walking schemes win national accreditation

HEALTHY: Walkers from Rochford and Castle Point

TWO walking schemes have been recognised by a national health network.

Rochford District Health Walks and Castle Point Walk Tall have been taken on as part of the Walking for Health initiative, and the accreditation endorses the quality of experience and support that walkers can expect when they take part.

Walking for Health, run by the Ramblers and Macmillan Cancer Support, is a nationwide movement dedicated to improving the nation's health through walking and has robust requirements for any scheme wanting to join.

Cllr Jo McPherson, Rochford District Council's portfolio holder for community, said: "We're delighted our short walks have been accredited by Walking for Health.

"Our volunteer walk leaders help all sorts of people to enjoy the many health benefits that regular walking brings, providing support every step of the way. Our walkers have a great deal of fun, making new friends and getting to know their local area."

Walking counts towards the recommended 150 minutes of physical activity people should do each week.

Local weekly walks include:

- Mondays: Richmond Hall, Benfleet, at 10.30am and Hullbridge at 10.45am.
- Wednesdays: Canvey Island at 10.30am.
- Thursdays: Hockley Woods at 10.45am.
- A walk takes place in Hadleigh on the first and third Friday of each month at 10.30am.

Theatre barman serves potent musical cocktail

By LIZ WADE

STAGE star Lewis Griffiths is looking forward to appearing in the award-winning Jersey Boys at the Cliffs Pavilion next month – a venue he is particularly familiar with having previously worked in its bar.

It was one of a number of part-time jobs Lewis has taken on over the past 10 years to help pay the bills between touring with various productions.

"I worked behind the bar to subsidise an income auditioning and training. I would audition for companies and then join their production on tour," he says.

His return to the theatre next month, in the award-winning production which has been seen by more than 19million people worldwide, will also be an opportunity to see more of family and friends.

The 29-year-old, who returns home as much as possible when he is not touring or appearing in shows in London, said: "I was born in Rochford and originally from Benfleet, but I was born and raised in Southend really. I went to primary school in Benfleet as well as King John Secondary School in Thundersley.

"I am Southend born and bred. I would socialise in Southend and am a lifelong Blues fan, taking after my granddad."

Jersey Boys will be Lewis's third appearance at the Cliffs Pavilion.

"The first was with Eurobeat which was a comedy Eurovision musical and the second was with Legally Blonde, the first UK tour of the production," says Lewis, who started rehearsals for the UK and Ireland tour of Jersey Boys last July.

He added: "I've been in quite a few productions around the UK and was on a cruise ship at 21. I've worked up the ranks, so to be coming back in such a role means a lot to me."

Jersey Boys, which runs at the Southend theatre from February 17 to 28, is the remarkable true story of Frankie Valli and the Four Seasons and their rise to stardom from the wrong side of the tracks.

WHIPLASH (15, 106 mins)

THE fresh paint of 2015 has barely dried and already we have a strong contender for the film of the year.

Inspired by writer-director Damien Chazelle's experiences in a fiercely competitive high school jazz band, Whiplash is an electrifying tale of a 19-year-old drummer's bruising battle of wits with his monstrous college tutor.

As the title intimates, pain is acute in Chazelle's lean script that pulls no punches in its depiction of the pursuit of musical excellence, which propels the self-destructive student to the brink of a mental and physical breakdown.

Drumming sequences are edited at a frenetic pace, spattered with the real sweat of lead actor Miles Teller, who performs all of the energy-sapping solos as if his life depended on it.

It's a bravura performance complemented by JK Simmons' jaw-dropping portrayal of the foul-mouthed, bullying conductor, who verbally abuses students that fall short of his impossible demands for metronomic and percussive perfection.

Staring at his terrified charges, Simmons' musician-turned-mentor preys upon teenage fears and insecurities, kindling intense rivalry between band members for his own sadistic pleasure.

Early in the film, he picks on one nervous trombonist's weight and snarls, "I will not let you cost us a competition because your mind's on a Happy Meal and not on pitch." He's just getting warmed up.

Nineteen-year-old Andrew Neiman (Teller) is determined to excel at his Manhattan music conservatory and avoid the regrets which haunt his writer father (Paul Reiser).

So he practises night and day and catches the eye of the school's most revered teacher, Terence Fletcher (Simmons).

Soon after, Andrew transfers to Fletcher's class and becomes the alternate drummer in the band behind lead player Carl (Nate Lang).

When the opportunity arises for Andrew to impress, he rises to the occasion but alienates himself from the rest of the band.

A fledgling romance with Nicole (Melissa Benoist), who works at Andrew's local cinema, is sacrificed in a cold, cruel fashion that would have Fletcher smacking his lips with glee.

The game of one-upmanship between teacher and pupil spirals out of control as Andrew struggles to meet the lofty expectations of his maniacal mentor and earn the right to play at a concert in the rarefied surroundings of Carnegie Hall.

Whiplash delivers one emotional wallop after another as Andrew practises until his hands bleed and Simmons belittles those Herculean efforts by growling, "Is that the fastest you can go? It is no wonder Mommy ran out on you!"

We root for the beleaguered 19-year-old with every display of frenzied stick-work, urging Andrew to wipe the smug grin off Fletcher's face.

Our investment in the characters is immense and Chazelle rewards us with an astounding denouement that saps every ounce of energy from our bodies.

We're delirious, euphoric and physically spent.

'It's a story of rags to riches'

These four boys from New Jersey became one of the most successful bands in pop history, were inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame and sold 175 million records worldwide, all before they turned 30.

Lewis says: "Jersey Boys is the story of Frankie Valli and the Four Seasons. Frankie was a young boy discovered by Tommy DeVito who was friends with Nick Massi who I play. They discover these sounds and each of them have their own talents. The sounds they created were legendary.

"The script in the show is brilliant, ridiculously good. The story isn't told from one perspective, it gives the Four Seasons' perspective. Their own version of the same story.

"It starts with Frank Valli and how the group was created, then Bob and his take on everything and then Nick Massi, who I play – the only member no longer with us as he passed away, in 2000, before the show even started."

"It's a story of rags to riches. It's a play with music, kind of a show the lads will go to see and bring their wives and I think we are doing a very strong job of it."

The show, which has won 55 major awards worldwide including Broadway's Tony, London's Olivier and Australia's Helpmann Awards for Best New Musical, is packed with their hits including 'Beggin', 'Sherry', 'Walk Like A Man', 'December 1963 (Oh What a Night)', 'Big Girls Don't Cry', 'My Eyes Adored You', 'Let's Hang On (To What We've Got)', 'Bye Bye Baby', 'Can't Take My Eyes Off You', 'Working My Way Back to You', 'Fallen Angel', 'Rag Doll and Who Loves You'.

As well as starring Lewis in the role of Nick Massi, the production also sees Stephen Webb in the role of Tommy DeVito and Sam Ferriday as Bob Gaudio, with Matt Corner playing the role of Frankie Valli at certain performances.

Also in the cast will be Sean Kingsley as Gyp DeCarlo, Matt Gillett as Bob Crewe, Nathaniel Morrison as Barry Belson, Dominic Smith as Norm Waxman and Damian Buhagiar as Joey Pesci.

The UK tour of Jersey Boys, is written by Marshall Brickman and Rick Elice, with music by Bob Gaudio and lyrics by Bob Crewe, is also being staged by the entire original Broadway creative team, led by director Des McAnuff and choreographer Sergio Trujillo.

● For further details about the tour visit www.jerseyboysuktour.com and for tickets the Cliffs Pavilion shows between February 17 and 28, call the box office on 01702 351135 or visit www.southendtheatres.org.uk.

Have a whale of a time with Moby Golf

IF you are looking for a 'whale' of a time with friends and family then head to Moby Golf in Chadwell Heath.

While I usually find it hard to coax the kids into an afternoon out with mum, as manor houses and country parks are not high on the agendas of two teenage boys these days, a challenge to a round of golf had the desired effect.

I think it was the photos of the course that did the trick as the site has been transformed into a whaling scene from times gone by, inspired by the novel Moby Dick by Herman Melville, the area's links to whalebones and even rumours that a washed-up whale was discovered in Dagenham in 1790.

Picture a 24ft whale ship, a 60 metre lagoon dyed blue to make you feel as if you are looking at the Mediterranean sea and a full size sperm whale, and you can see why the course pulls in visitors like us.

The opening of the adventure golf park, off Whalebone Lane, was eagerly awaited last year and scores of visitors have been taking on the challenge ever since.

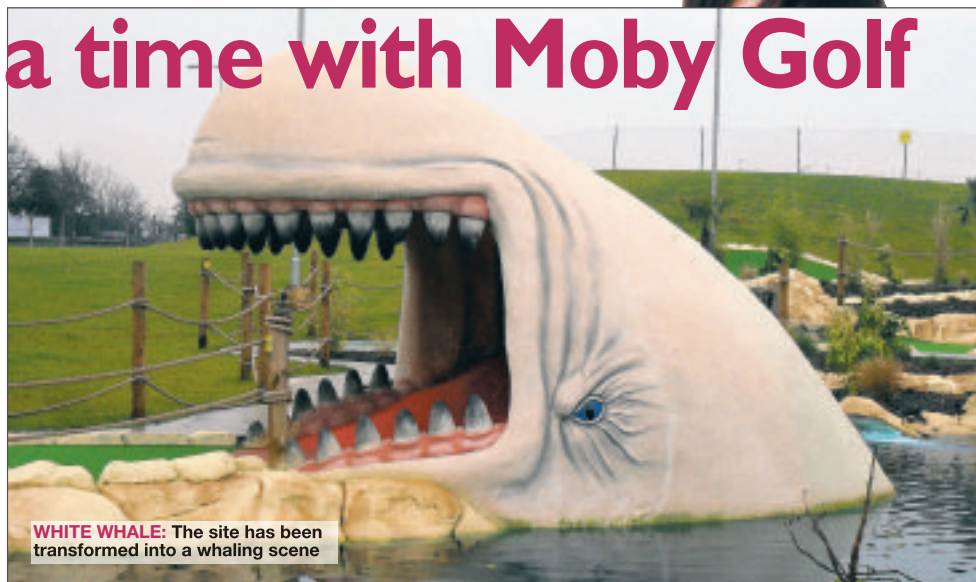

With our four Captain tickets bought – for those aged 12 and over – we had only a few minutes wait before taking to the first of 18 holes, despite plenty of people playing ahead of us.

Among the range of different holes to play there are a variety of quirky ones including one on the whale ship, another where you have to putt your ball into the 9ft mouth of the whale and one in a cave, which is also home to a rather noisy inhabitant.

As well as its 60 metre lagoon, the park also has a eight metre high waterfall and a river of water that winds itself around some of the holes and can even be used to help reach the putting green of one of them. There are also a couple of points where you run the risk of losing your ball in the lagoon, which puts your putting skills to the test and adds to all the fun.

It took us an hour and a half to get round the course, by the end of which we had achieved five 'hole in ones' between us, and my younger son had reached the end of a battle to be crowned the winner with just one point between him and his brother for much of the game.

WHITE WHALE: The site has been transformed into a whaling scene

The course definitely appeals to all ages as, along with families and grandparents with grandchildren, there were also plenty of groups of friends enjoying the course.

As well as Captain tickets for people aged 12 and over, which cost £9 each, there are Shipmates passes for those aged five to 11 for £6.95 and Rascals tickets for the under fives for £3.25. If you play the course in groups you can save money with family tickets costing £25 which can be enjoyed by two Captains and two Shipmates or one Captain and three Shipmates, and adult groups of four Captains can play for £30.

New Winning Formula at The Palm Tree

The Palm Tree, on Leigh Road, has garnered an enviable reputation for offering customers a fine dining experience since its opening two-years-ago.

The extensive a la carte menu has been impressing diners with its inviting mix of Mediterranean dishes, created using the freshest of authentic ingredients, cooked to order and served in welcoming, elegant surroundings.

Now, owner Samet Kilic wants to adapt this winning formula by creating a brand new fixed-price menu, based around the current successful a la carte concept. "Our customers love our menu and the dishes on it, and we will never jeopardise that," Samet explained. "We have earned a reputation for being the go-to restaurant for anyone wishing to enjoy a first-class meal by way of celebrating a special occasion, and we don't want that to change."

"However, we now want to show would-be diners that we are equally suited to providing an affordable mid-week dining option that will not compromise on the quality and taste that have made us so popular with our customers, and will still contain our trademark dishes."

Two fixed-price menus will soon be available; one for lunch and one for dinner, and both will continue to feature favourite items and Palm Tree specialties, as well as some exciting new signature dishes. Dinner guests can enjoy either a three-course-meal for just £15.95 or two-course meal for £12.95, available Monday to Friday and Sundays (£23.50 and £19.50 respectively on Saturday nights). Both will include an extensive range of starters such as Scallops au Gratin and Sardines in Peri-Peri Sauce, as well as mains including Fillet of Seabass and Mediterranean Lamb Meatballs.

In addition, a complimentary Amuse Bouche appetiser (a soupcon of homemade soup, served with bread) will be included, and a good range of vegetarian dishes and desserts, designed to tempt and tantalize, will be offered.

One-course options and daily specials will also be available. The lunchtime fixed-price-menu, meanwhile, as well as featuring similar dishes to those on the dinner menu, will provide outstanding value for money, with one course priced at just £6.95, Monday to Saturday. The traditional roast will continue to be served on Sundays, either as part of the set menu or as a single dish.

Samet's desire for a less formal, more laid-back approach to dining at the Palm Tree is also reflected in the newly refashioned interior, evincing a more relaxed ambience while still retaining the warm and friendly feel, as well as the fact that The Palm Tree will now be open all day, every day, from 11:30 until late. "We really hope people like the changes we are making," Samet told us. "In essence, all we're doing is continuing to offer the same grade A cuisine we always have, and as found in most exclusive restaurants, but at only a fraction of the price and without the accompanying fuss and formality." Sounds like another winning formula!

Spice has the variety of life

SPICE LOUNGE has had a huge impact on diners since opening its doors on Canvey Island a year ago.

The restaurant, situated on Canvey seafront, first welcomed diners in January last year and since then everyone from couples and families to large parties celebrating special occasions have been taking their seats.

This is due to its outstanding a la carte menu of contemporary cuisine, its welcoming and helpful staff and its beautiful décor.

Spice Lounge is justly proud of the specially selected Indian and Bangladeshi cuisine on its menu including a vast range of starters such as duck or green chicken tikka, and tandoori lamb chops or king prawns. Its selection of main courses is packed with a variety of traditional dishes such as masala, korai, jalfrezi, balti, korma, curry, bhuna, dupiaza, rogon josh, sag, dansak, pathia, madras, vindaloo and biryani delights.

What's more, there are a range of chef's specialities including dum gosh, chicken irangani, gosht kata masala, duck jalsha, and duck shuganda, and seafood specialities such as chingri sag paneer, Bengal king prawn, crab bhuna and salmon kurma.

If you are looking to try a range of dishes, or feed the family for outstanding value-for-money, then try its Sunday buffet. The buffet, served every Sunday from noon to 10pm, costs just £9.95 for adults and £6.95 for children, while the under-fives eat for free. With its wide range of dishes, such as chicken tikka and vegetable samosa for starters, chicken pasanda, North Indian garlic chill chicken and lamb korai for mains, and sides such as Bombay aloo and sag paneer, as well as rice, bread, salad and chutneys, so you have a feast for the whole family.

As well as offering wide choice, with buffet dishes changing regularly, it also offers fantastic value thanks to its "buy two get one free" deal for Yellow Advertiser readers.

The restaurant welcomes bookings as well as walk-in diners, and can cater for a range of special occasions from birthdays to anniversaries.

It also has a takeaway service which offers free home delivery on orders of more than £10 within a five-mile radius, or a 10 per cent discount on collection orders of more than £15.

Spice Lounge is open every day, including bank holidays, from noon to 2.30pm and from 5.30pm to midnight, from Monday to Saturday, and all day from noon to midnight on Sundays.

Perfect setting for a special date

WHEELER'S Tandoori offers delicious cuisine in intimate surroundings, making it the ideal place for a range of occasions including Valentine's Day.

On Saturday, February 14, the restaurant will be serving a special Valentine's Day menu for those wanting to treat their loved one to a range of mouth-watering cuisine.

As the day looks set to be extremely popular, staff at Wheeler's Tandoori are urging customers to call for further information and book early to avoid disappointment.

What's more, to get the New Year off to a great start they are also offering a two-for-one deal for diners in the restaurant on starters and main courses throughout January, as well as other value-for-money offers.

Throughout the year Wheeler's, which has proved popular since opening its doors in 2009, offers a range of deals for diners including a Sunday buffet.

The buffet, which is served from 1pm to 8pm, costs just £7.95 for adults and £3.95 for children under 12, while the under-fives eat for free, making it not only outstanding value-for-money, but a great way to taste different dishes.

Wheeler's also serves an extensive a la carte menu offering a wide choice of meat, seafood and vegetable dishes, all of which are individually cooked to order by a chef who has more than 30 years' experience.

The establishment, which prides itself on being just how an Indian restaurant should be, serves authentic Indian cuisine in comfortable booths complete with candlelit tables, boasts magnificent décor, a well stocked bar, full disabled facilities, and a large private car park.

The restaurant, which has a take-away service offering free home delivery, welcomes taste card members as well as organisations who want to benefit from its charity buffet events, which cost just £6.50 per person.

Wheeler's Tandoori Restaurant, at 458 London Road, in Bread and Cheese Hill, Benfleet, is open from noon to 2pm and from 5pm to 11.30pm, from Monday to Thursday, and is open until midnight on Fridays and at weekends.

For further information or to make a reservation, call 01268 757868, visit www.wheelerstandoori.co.uk or find it on Facebook.

ASK THE AGENT ALAN KIRKMAN

Alan Kirkman is a Director of both Tudor Estates in Southend and Essex TEAM part of a network of independently owned estate agents who share their instructions for the benefit of giving their client properties maximum market exposure. Alan has been an estate agent for over 32 years.

Q. What effect do you think the recent Stamp Duty changes will have on the market?

A. You won't be surprised to hear that like practically every estate agent in the country – except, of course, for those operating at the “country house” end of the spectrum, or in prime Central London – I think the changes announced shortly before Christmas by the Chancellor represent some of the best news the property market has had in years. And not before time, either!

After years of pleading and lobbying from everyone involved in the property industry, the Government finally acted to end the iniquities of the old Stamp Duty (SD) regime – so much so, in fact, that around 98% of all buyers will be better off, in most cases to the tune of thousands of pounds. Only those people buying properties costing more than £937,500 will actually pay more.

Let me give you an example. The biggest problem with the old SD regime was the so-called “slab” effect – which basically meant that if you paid just one pound over a threshold, you paid the new higher rate on the entire amount. Not any more! Like income tax, the new duty regime is progressive – which means you only pay the higher rate on the portion of the purchase price above the threshold. So, if you were buying a house for, say, £350,000, under the old system, you would have paid 3% on the entire amount – ie, £10,500. Under the new system, you will pay 2% between £125,000 and £250,000 (£2,500), plus a further 5% on the extra £100,000 (£5,000), making a grand total of £7,500. In other words a saving of £3,000!

As for the impact these changes are likely to have on the market...the abolition of the unfair and archaic slab system will take the sting out of the tail for hundreds of thousands of buyers on the lower to middle rungs of the property ladder – and put thousands of pounds back in their pockets, just when they need it most. At the same time, it will eliminate the distortion in property pricing that occurred when sellers tried to avoid the old duty thresholds, and therefore allow properties to be more fairly priced.

In fact, the only drawback I see to these changes is that we estate agents will have to find something else to grumble about in the run-up to future elections!

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.

2. ‘Classified’ Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed ‘Trade Advertisers’, and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.

To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as ‘trade’, ‘dealer’, ‘agent’, ‘wholesaler’, ‘(T)’ etc. in the advertisement.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

(a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
(b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
(c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.

4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

8. All gross advertising rates (except classified line and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.

11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.

12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.

13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.

(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.

(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers

Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies.

Box numbers alone are not available for use in ‘Trade’ advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category

Landlord Question

Is PAT Testing Compulsory for rental properties?

Think Property Answer

Portable Appliance Tests or PATs are an electrical check carried out on ‘movable’ items such as kettles, microwaves, hoovers, table lamps, toasters and coffee machines and many electricians will tell you they must be carried out before tenants move into a property.

Legally speaking this is not true. There is no law that says PAT checks must be carried out, something the government recently clarified.

What the law does state is that all electrical equipment within a rental property must be safe to use and that it's the landlord's responsibility to ensure this before tenants move in and, equally, during the tenancy too.

Most experts, including those from the Electrical Safety Council, recommend landlords make a visual inspection of all the electrical appliances provided within each rented property so check cables aren't worn or that plugs are damaged. It is also recommended that any new items feature the ‘CE’ kite mark which is the manufacturer's claim that it meets all European safety legislation.

Whether you then decide to get all the items PAT checked is a matter of choice not law. But most experts agree that, if landlords want peace of mind, then the £50-£100 it will cost to get a qualified electrician in to complete PAT checks is worth it.

A visual examination is the most important factor, but if an item were to short and then catch fire then being able to prove that it had been PAT checked recently (every two years for smaller items and four years for larger ones) would help matters.

More importantly PAT checks may flag up potential problems before tenants move in but don't rely on them alone – they should not be completed instead of a visual check but rather as a back up.

Drivetime

Peugeot aims to make city life a little easier

By Bruce Booth

NO matter what you drive, life in the city has always been tough and with every passing day, things seem to get just that little bit tougher.

But many manufacturers have done their bit to attempt to make things a bit easier for motorists, with city slickers from the likes of Volkswagen, Skoda, Suzuki, Kia and Hyundai helping do their bit.

Some years back, Toyota, Citroen and Peugeot joined forces to kick-start a city car revolution with their Aygo, C1 and 107 models respectively, a trio built to much the same exterior design but with interior detailing left to each marque's own individual taste.

Now the second-generation of these models are appearing in showrooms with Citroen and Toyota retaining their C1 and Aygo names and the Peugeot moving on with their 108.

Although each car will again be built on the same production line at Kolin in the Czech Republic, this time round each of the three partners have put their own ideas of what a city car should look like to the test.

Peugeot have aimed their new baby firmly at the female market, with a selection of highly-colourful exterior colours matched with vibrant seat covers and a range of exterior stickers and interior flashes in order for the owner to personalise their new 108 in much the same way MINI owners have been doing for years.

The 108 comes with the choice of two three-cylinder petrol engines. First there's a 68bhp one-litre Toyota unit mated to either a five-speed manual gearbox or a self-shifting semi-automatic gearbox, while there's also the choice of Peugeot's own punchier 80bhp 1.2-litre Puretech unit.

Both engines are well up for the job of whizzing around heavy city traffic, and the great news is that both emit less than 100g/km CO2 meaning there's no road tax to pay.

The smaller three-pot engine is basically the same as that fitted to the outgoing model but with extra refinements and tweaks that make it smoother and more economical, giving it an official fuel consumption figure of 68.9mpg.

The five-speed gearbox is pretty smooth, while the gear ratios have been adjusted to give the car more zip on faster out-of-town dual-carriageways where it can keep up with the flow when pushed along.

The larger engine, however, does have that extra oomph, meaning it doesn't have to be worked quite as hard, thus giving a quieter ride under acceleration, while another positive is that fuel consumption is not compromised, with official figures showing 65.7mpg on the combined cycle.

For a small city car, there's plenty of grip and little body roll to spoil the journey, although with all small cars, our poorly surfaced roads can cause the 108 to be buffeted around a bit.

Out on the hoof, the steering is light yet reassuring, while its tight turning circle makes for parking into those tighter spaces something of a breeze.

The new Peugeot comes with anti-lock brakes, electronic brake-force distribution, stability control and an array of airbags all fitted as standard.

LED daytime running lamps, hill start assist, Isofix seat fixing points and tyre pressure monitoring system all feature through the model range, while higher spec models get a seven-inch colour touch screen which projects a mirror image of an occupant's own smartphone onto it.

Peugeot reckon that Active spec models priced from £9,495 and which come complete with electric front windows, air-conditioning, 15-inch steel wheels and the above-mentioned colour screen, will be the top-seller of the range.

However, higher spec Allure and Feline models, starting at £10,995, add goodies such as colour reversing camera, keyless entry, speed-limiter, foglights, electric and heated door mirrors and alloys, including a proper spare wheel to the list.

With their main focus now on raising quality, things have stepped up a gear in recent times for Peugeot, and the launch of the new 108 will go towards adding extra flair and colour to the famous French marque.

Sinclair C5 reaches a landmark

By Mike Torpey

IT IS one of the most unusual vehicles ever to be built in Britain – and the 30th birthday of the Sinclair C5 is being marked at the National Motor Museum.

The electric-powered tricycle was launched on January 10, 1985, and though it failed to catch the public imagination at the time it is now regarded as an icon of 1980s design and a pioneer of alternative-fuelled transport.

Masterminded by inventor and entrepreneur Sir Clive Sinclair, the C5 was designed to be an inexpensive alternative for one person to travelling by car, bus or bike.

Marketed as 'a new power in personal transport,' it had a retail price of £399 and could be driven for five miles on just a penny's worth of electricity.

However, the C5 was poorly received by the press and public alike, not least because its size – just 2ft 7ins off the ground – made it vulnerable on the road.

The claimed range of 20 miles on one battery charge was modest due to the limitations in contemporary battery technology.

And even if the 'weather cheater' poncho, offered as an accessory, was worn by the driver, the C5's lack of rain protection also ensured a short production life.

Although Sinclair had expected to sell up to 100,000 units per year, only 9,000 C5s had been built by October 1985, following the end of production and the collapse of the company that Sinclair had set up to produce it.

The C5 utilised both pedal power and an electric motor for propulsion, with the driver sitting exposed to the elements in the open plastic bodyshell.

Handlebars beneath the driver's knees provided controls for steering, braking and acceleration, and the design of the three-wheeled back-bone chassis, constructed from steel, had been extensively developed by sports car brand Lotus.

An electric motor powered the left-hand rear wheel, helping the C5 to reach 15mph – its top speed, as restricted by law – and anyone over the age of 14 was permitted to drive one, though no driving licence was required.

Just a single button was pressed to make it move and though rumour had it that the C5 was powered by a washing machine motor, because it was built by Hoover in Mwrthyr, Wales, that wasn't actually the case.

Every model, however, was supplied to its new owners in a cardboard box.

By the time that the C5 was launched, Sinclair already had an impressive list of designs to his name – including the digital watch, the world's first slimline pocket calculator and the world's first pocket television.

The C5 can be seen as part of a visit to the whole Beaulieu attraction, which also includes Palace House, Beaulieu Abbey and World of Top Gear.

BROWN UPBEAT DESPITE DRAW

Southend United

Southend United 0
Plymouth Argyle 0
Brian Jeeves reporting from Roots Hall Stadium

UNITED'S home goal famine continued as Plymouth Argyle became the latest side to grab a point from a goalless Sky Bet League Two draw at Roots Hall.

Blues went into the game one place and two points ahead of the Pilgrims, but were wary that the Devonian outfit had beaten them 2-0 in August at Home Park.

Southend's foremost concern this campaign has been a distinct lack of potency in front of goal, a problem Blues boss Phil Brown looked to resolve by recruiting striker Joe Pigott on a month's loan from Charlton Athletic.

But with Luke Prosser and Cian Bolger missing due to suspension, Brown was frustrated in his attempt to evade a potential defensive headache when a deal to land former Roots Hall favourite Adam Barrett from Gillingham hit the buffers.

With Southend the league's lowest home scorers and Argyle holding a similarly unwanted stat for games away, perhaps the outcome shouldn't have been a surprise. But on a blustery afternoon, expansive football was always going to be difficult and early exchanges were fragmented.

But the Blues were first to threaten. Ryan Leonard fired just past an upright after new man Pigott had teed him up, while at the other end Southend goalkeeper Daniel Bentley saved the day after Lewis Alessandra had skipped clear of the home side's defence.

As the half wore on Plymouth began to find their feet. Anthony O'Connor's effort was just off target following a flowing move down the left, then Bentley and Adam Thompson combined to clear after Andy Kellett had waltzed past a static Blues backline.

Soon after Thompson was on hand again, this time clearing headlong after Jason Banton's dangerous centre had caused Southend panic.

The home side responded but Shaquille Coulthirst should have done better, pulling a low drive across the face of goal.

As the first half drew to a close, Southend looked no nearer ending a Roots Hall goal drought that had stretched back to Northampton Town's visit in late November.

After the break Plymouth were quickest out of the blocks and almost grabbed the lead when Reuben Reid's header flew just past a post.

Pigott continued to labour for Southend, sending a curling shot just wide, then McCormick made a brilliant one-handed save to deny Coulthirst as the Shrimpers looked for a breakthrough.

Irritation among the home crowd grew when Coulthirst fired meekly at McCormick instead of picking out an unmarked Pigott, while the latter was horribly off target minutes later after finding some room on the edge of the box.

In the final stages both sides came agonisingly close to grabbing all three points. Firstly, McCormick produced a wonderful double save to thwart both Jerome Binnom-Williams and White from close range.

Plymouth then went even closer when Tom Flanagan flicked Kellett's shot onto the bar. Reid followed up but incredibly smashed his effort against the woodwork.

After the game, Blues boss Phil Brown focused on the positives, saying: "I was delighted in the second half at the way we approached the game."

He added: "Although we've only scored two goals in five games, we've only conceded one. There's a lot of good things going on from a defensive point of view."

"We've lost three of our four centre-half's that we had at the start of the season and yet we've still managed to keep a clean sheet."

Brown was pleased with striker Joe Pigott, who made his debut, saying: "Joe did well. I thought his first five or six interventions in the game were very good. His hold-up play was good and I thought he looked like a very young exuberant kind of Barry Corr. I didn't bring him in to replace Barry like-for-like, we just liked what we saw in the under-21s. He's mobile, he's a big lad - he had chances, and he's got himself into positions to score."

On further news signings, the Blues boss hinted at another striking option, saying: "I was hoping before the game I was going to get one more in, and I was going to throw him straight in."

Blues goalkeeper Daniel Bentley, who kept his 10th clean sheet, said: "We've been solid for the past five or six games, we've only conceded one goal in five games now."

"I just don't think things are going our way at the front end of the pitch at the moment. It's something we are working on and hopefully we can start scoring some more goals."

Blues look for a return to winning ways against Oxford United at the Kassam Stadium on Saturday.

Non-league round-up

Mixed fortunes for Concord and City

by Brian Jeeves

THERE was mixed fortunes for Braintree Town and Concord Rangers as our Conference clubs switched their attentions to the second round of the FA Trophy.

Kenny Davis and Jordan Cox found the net either side of the break as Braintree eased to a 2-0 win at Gosport Borough, but it was the end of the Wembley trail for Concord Rangers.

The Beach Boys stunned Premier Division leaders Barnet in the previous round, but this time it was their turn to become victims. Lewis Taaffe grabbed a late consolation for the Canvey-based outfit after a brace from Hawkins and one from Oli had secured a passage into round three for Hemel Hempstead Town.

In the Conference South, Chelmsford City slipped to defeat at Weston-Super-Mare. Former Southend United man Lee Sawyer was on target late on for the Clarets, this after Ash (2) and Grubb had scored for the home side.

In the Ryman Premier League, Grays Athletic led the way with a 5-2 success at Peacehaven and Telscombe. Joe Carlos, Sami El Abd, Bradley Tomlinson, Jay Leader and Mark Bentley were on target for Grays. East Thurrock United were also among the goals. Sam Higgins and Lewis Smith both weighed in with a pair for the Rocks in an impressive 4-2 win at Harrow Borough.

Witham Town were held to a 1-1 draw by VCD Athletic, but it wasn't such good news for the region's other Ryman Premier clubs. An impressive crowd of 510 were at the Prospects Stadium, but despite a Jack Simmons goal, Canvey Island were beaten 2-1 by Maidstone United.

Billericay Town went down 2-1 at Dulwich Hamlet, and there was another setback for AFC Hornchurch who slumped to a 1-0 loss to Wingate and Finchley at Bridge Avenue.

There wasn't much in the way of joy for the region's Ryman One North clubs.

Great Wakering Rovers and Thurrock played out a dramatic 2-2 draw at Burroughs Park. Eljay Worrall and Jay Nash found the net for the villagers with Kweku Ansah and Lewis Spence replying for the visitors.

Romford and Brightlingsea Regent also shared four goals, but there were 2-1 defeats for Tilbury, at Thamesmead, and Barkingside, at home to Wroxham.

Heybridge Swifts went down 4-2 at Dereham Town and it was the same outcome at Harlow Town, where lowly Burnham Ramblers went away empty-handed.

The pick of the action in the Essex Senior League saw Haringey Borough edge out Clapton by two goals to one at the Old Spotted Dog.

Hullbridge Sports clinched a 3-1 success at Sawbridgeworth Town, while Barking and Basildon United played out a 1-1 draw. Elsewhere, Ilford slipped to a 3-0 defeat at Waltham Forest.

Saxons' best of season sees off league leaders

Rugby

Southend Saxons 18
Henley Hawks 17

HENLEY arrived at Southend on Saturday with 10 changes to the side that beat the Saxons at Dry Leas earlier in the season.

Warners Park was muddy and slippery, add to that a gusty south west wind and it was never going to be a running festival of rugby.

From the kick-off the Saxon pack had the edge as they have in most games this season. Their efforts were rewarded with a very early try from Saxon Hudson. Playing at flanker he tucked the ball under his arm and was driven over by a determined pack. Not a day for Brad Burr as his conversion attempt sailed wide.

With the backs having to concentrate on their defensive duties, the forwards were left to mount multi-phase attacks.

It wasn't until the 25th minute they were rewarded with a penalty in Burr's range. The kick sailed between the posts to make it 8-0.

The Hawks were playing into the breeze and found it difficult to get anywhere, unlike the Saxons who just kept coming. Every time Henley got into the Southend half and lost the ball it was booted downwind to safety.

Yet again the pack scrummaged and mauled their way into Hawks territory and were rewarded with another try for hooker Ferrier. With another failed conversion it took them into half-time at 13-0.

The second half was very different.

Henley were playing downwind and Southend were forced to defend.

The Hawks were rampant but Saxons stood firm.

Henley's No 8 forced his way over after five minutes, kicker Comben converted, 13-7. A penalty at 54 minutes narrowed the score to 13-10.

Southend fans were beginning to think they might have to accept anything from the game and those fears were realised when on 75 minutes Henley replacement second row O'Leary was driven over and the try awarded after a discussion with the assistant.

Another successful conversion from Comben and the Hawks had moved into the lead at 13-17.

With five minutes plus injury time to go on came prop Bailey playing his first game of the season for the Saxons.

For one of the only times of the half Saxons found themselves deep in Hawks territory, forcing penalties, kicking into the corner, relying on lineout skills they kept pressing until a maul trundled over the line and collapsed.

But neither referee Calum Howard nor the touch judge could confirm the touchdown. However, he had seen a technical yellow card offence so off went Hawks No 8 Hirskey-Douglas.

Five minutes of injury time had gone when up went the ref's arm again. Another scrum, another raise of the arm but allowing advantage.

This time the ball came out of the pack to Burr, a quick look, a delicate chip into the corner and there was centre Tom Ashton. He caught the ball and touched down. 18-17.

The players and crowd went mad, no one watched as the conversion attempt sailed wide. Southend's best display of the season had seen them through for a deserved win.

V.A.T Free Flat Roofing

Advertorial

Over 70% of homes in the UK have a flat roof incorporating a mineral felt finish – that's seven out of ten home owners with a potential flat roof problem...

Mineral felt is prone to a slow breakdown, often allowing water ingress to cause unnecessary problems before being visibly detected within the home. Mineral felt has tendency to blister throughout summer months and eventually becomes brittle and cracks during colder periods. Cracking will also appear around the exposed edges and other points of detail, e.g. around pipes, skylights, flashings into brickwork or under tiles, etc. These areas are where workmanship is most crucial. Felt also attracts moss and algae, further degrading the roof surface.

It is very important that every homeowner is made aware that insurance companies no longer cover or accept any liability for any external or internal damage caused by a leaking felt roof. Unless it can be proven storm damage, any such claim is categorised as wear and tear or poor workmanship, leaving the homeowner with the financial burden.

In 1999, High-Tech Roofing first introduced the most advanced flat roof technology to the homeowner. Protan, based in Norway, has a pedigree in the design and manufacture of waterproofing materials dating back to 1939, and producing the first roofing membrane in 1971. Protan is our preferred PVC single-ply flat roofing system. Protan will cope with all climates, as millions of square meters are installed here and abroad with a proven track record stretching over four decades. Protan is predominantly an architect-specified roofing system, winning many awards and serving the very competitive commercial sector.

High-Tech has installed and proudly guarantees, over 8000 flat roof installations throughout Essex, Kent and London regions.
